“ Kuya, you're always be in my heart and thoughts! I remember the time you're teaching me how to ride a bike , I know I can be difficult at times,yet you didn't gave up and assured me that I will learn how to ride the bike. There's so many things that I would like others to know about you, I guess I am just being silly that I want those memories to belong to me!! Love you Kuya,

“ Mr. B was always had a smile on his face. He always welcomed me even though I'm sure our wild antics as children secretly drove him nuts lol. He was always there for his two sons and his friends. I will miss him more than I could explain. His smile, his gentle voice and his kind words. I loved him more than I probably ever shared and I regret that, but he was and always will be in my thoughts and heart.
